

Searchers Find Plane in Ridge

HOE VALLEY, CALIF.
—Air searchers found the wreck of a Douglas C-47 Constellation Monday the top of an 8,700-foot Sierrita Nevada ridge where it crashed 35 persons to their deaths in a heavy snowstorm.

Heavy snow flurries and the steep terrain delayed removal of the bodies at least until noon Monday.

AIR FORCE spokesmen said the plane, which vanished on a scheduled 150-mile flight from San Jose, Calif., to Reno, Tahoe, missed clearing the ridge by only 25 or 30 feet.

The wreckage was sighted by an Air Force helicopter Monday morning after the weather cleared. A second helicopter landed at the scene and confirmed that the plane was there.

AER A JEEP posse headed by Sheriff George Byers of Douglas, Nev., reached the scene.

Snowflurries hampered efforts to clear the way to the wreckage. At least three feet had fallen since the plane disappeared after brief clearing began again Monday afternoon.

ERS SAID that he would remove the bodies until after arrival of an official from the Federal Bureau of Investigation. Another from the Civil Aeronautics Board. These officials due this morning and it will be impossible for them to get to the scene before noon, Byers said. He said he had left deputies to guard the wreckage.

The crash site is on the Nevada side of the California-Nevada line, about eight miles from Tahoe Airport, which was the nearest of the ill-fated flight.

Wins $200 In Contest...

'Universe' Plays It Safe

Judges of the 16th annual College Newspaper Contest on Safe Driving wired the Daily Universe that it had won third prize for an overall newspaper campaign.

James S. Kemper, chairman of the board of the Lumbermen's Mutual Casualty Company, also notified Ardean Toler, society editor, that she had won first place in the Feature Article Section for her picture page and story entitled, "How to Kill Your Self."

Miss Toler's first cash prize totaled $150.

THE CASH AWARD to the Universe will total $200 and will be awarded by a representative of the sponsor later in the year. Universe Editor, Bruce Olsen, said that it had not been determined where the money would be spent, but he hoped part of the funds would be used to present the staff with bound volumes of this year's papers.

The physical details of the Universe's Safety Campaign were handled by Don Searle, who also set up the Security Safety Check. Arly Bell and the advertising staff drew local and national advertising and seat belt donations.

THE CAMPAIGN brought a special letter of commendation from Duane Jensen, special projects director for the National Safety Council. He said, "Very seldom do we find a newspaper that will devote so much time, energy and space to the problems of keeping our homes and highways safe."

First place winner was "The Battalion" of Texas A. M. second place was "The Daily Trojan" of the University of Southern California.

This is the fourth time in the contest's sixteen year history that the Universe has placed in the top entries.

Blaze Of Fireworks Ignited By Defense; Judge Overrules Demands In Ruby Trial

DALLAS, (UPI) — Defense attorneys ignited a blazing display of fireworks at Jack Ruby's trial Tuesday, demanding in rapid sequence a mistrial, a change of venue and a contempt of court citation for the "white-livered" district attorney.

JUDGE JOE R. BROWN, in turn overruled them, and fined Assistant Defense Attorney Joe H. Tonnahill for contempt and threatened Chief Defense Counsel Melvin Bell with more of the same.

The attorneys for Lee Harvey Oswald's slayer blew up in court and in the judge's chambers as Ruby sat quietly watching and listening while both sides fended with the delicate job of selecting the first two jurors.

TONNAHILL, COULD be heard in chambers denouncing as "subversive" the head of a national epilepsy organization who distributed in the corridors pamphlets in defense of epileptics.

Bell shouted in chambers that Dist. Atty. Henry Wade was "white-livered" and should be cited for contempt because, they said, he knew of plans to distribute the pamphlets.

The judge kept telling Tonnahill to "hush, Joe."

Bell was threatened with contempt when he accused Wade of insulting Negroes and bringing in outsiders to "contaminate the jury."

Textiles Discussed

Man has never been able to make a fabric as good as cotton and silk which were made by our Creator said Miss Yvonne Griner of the College of Family Living at the Homemakers Roundup Monday.

Miss Griner explained that the Textile Fiber Identification Act of 1960 helps homemakers because it requires that each textile fiber product must carry a label which gives the name of the fiber used in the garment.

Seven keys to garment buying were repeated by Miss Griner. They were fiber content, yarn construction, fiber construction, dyeing and printing, finishes used, decorative design and garment construction.

"Even the size of stitch in a garment can help determine how long it will wear," said Miss Griner.

"There are different qualities and grades in all fibers," explained Miss Griner. "Quality should be considered as much as the fabric," she said.

Ralph Peterson, a chemical engineering student, gave a demonstration on how nylon is made. He explained that nylon is strong because the molecules are lined up end to end.

Top Gymnasts Overwhelmed By Puma Stars

The BYU gymnasts now boast a 3-2-1 record, including a 3-1 conference mark.

FRIDAY in a double-dual at the University of Utah, BYU outscored the University of New Mexico 84-44.

Ron Newson led coach Rudy More's muscle men with 20½ points. Newson took first place on the high bar and tied with BYU's Perry Quinn for first place honors on the parallel bars. Lynn Leigh, following close behind with 14 points, took first places on the trampoline and the long horse. Perry Quinn brought in 12½ points, by also taking first in still rings. Richard Snow with 10 points took first in tumbling.

THE COUGARS gymnasts outscored Colorado State on Saturday 64-48. Ron Newson again led BYU with 15 points and first place honors on the high bar and parallel bars. Richard Snow, showing the form that gave him the WAC trampoline crown last year, took first place on the trampoline and tumbling to give the team 12 points. Perry Quinn and Jay Markham both added 10 points and gave BYU two first places, in still rings and free exercise respectively.

Frosh Hoopsters Break All Records: Now Work Toward Varsity Positions

by Bill Paddock
Asst. Sports Editor

With two record smashing basketball wins the Cougar frosh wound up a perfect season of play with an all-around record that will be hard for any freshman team to match.

COACH PETE Witbeck's teams have known nothing but excellence at BYU but this year's team was one of the more special ones.

For instance, they set a freshman scoring record here Friday in their game with Carlton College, 127-58, and then turned right around to break their own record the following night, beating Weber, 128-86.

BEFORE THE Kittens went in to their weekend games they were averaging a few points over 100 a game but the last two games boosted their average to 109 points a game! This fantastic scoring pace was never even matched by any of the teams they played, their opponents scored on an average of about 35 points less.

Another scoring record was smashed this game by forward Gary Hill. He broke Bob Quinn's mark of 318 points for fourteen games set two years ago. With his 31 points against Carlton and 37 against Weber, Hill shaded Quinn's point-per-game average by two tenths of a point, 22.9.

HILL, LEADING the team with his average was closely followed by two other Kittens, Neil Roberts and Jim Jimas who both scored better than 20 points a game, Roberts with 20.9 and Jimas with 20.2.

Ken James, a guard was fourth in line for scoring honors, he averaged 14.8 points a game and the other member of the starting five, the big pivot man Craig Raymond came up with 13.4 points a contest. Raymond, standing 6-11 towered over most men on the floor and with superior running and jumping ability was able to add excellent defensive play to the games.

NO TEAM is good without supply of reserves that can step in as the starters get tired. Coach Witbeck said that "our reserves, after scrimmaging against the regulars most of season, were playing outstanding basketball at the tail end of season."

Dr. Edwin R. Kimball, coordinator of planning for the College of Physical Education, and for 45 years a prominent figure in athletic circles, will be honored at a banquet on campus March 19.

ACCORDING TO Floyd Millet, director of athletics and chairman of the steering committee working on the banquet, the event will be staged in the ballroom of the Joseph Smith Memorial Building beginning at 7 p.m.

THE TRIBUTE to Kimball, who has been active in BYU athletic affairs since he first joined the staff in 1919, is being sponsored by five organizations: BYU Athletic Department, BYU Alumni Association, Provo Chamber of Commerce, Provo Downtown, Coaches, and the Cougar Club.

Theme of the banquet will be, "Forty-Five Years in Athletics." Dr. Kimball accepted a new appointment as coordinator of planning for the College of Physical Education in November. Prior to that he had served as the Cougars' director of athletics, a post he had held since 1956.
